Check Site Of Talks

MUNSAN, Korea, Oct. 10 (Wednesday).—(AP)—Allied and Communist liaison officers today looked over a possible compromise site for resumption of the Korean cease-fire talks.

The two teams visited a bridge midway between Panmunjom and Songhyon in western Korea. Panmunjom is the new site recommended by the Reds. Songhyon was recommended by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, allied supreme commander.

Both points are about six miles southeast of Kaesong, the trouble-plagued town where the Reds broke off the talks Aug. 23.

A pooled dispatch from Panmunjom said the two teams "apparently reached an agreement on an open-air armistice site near the bridge by the shallow Sancheon River."

The two teams conferred for more than two hours in an atmosphere described as cordial by allied reporters.

COMPROMISE SITE

Although the purpose of the bridge survey was not disclosed, it appeared obvious the two sides were considering a possible compromise site.

The liaison officers opened their meetings at 10 a.m. (8 p.m. E.S.T. Tuesday) and were to continue until 12:25 p.m.

Their task was to arrange for chief negotiators to get back together in an area not under control of either side, thus avoiding the likelihood of "incidents."

Both allied and Red press men were present at today's discussions.

St. Lawrence Seaway Construction Possible as All-Canadian Project

OTTAWA, Oct. 9 (CP).—The Government today launched a new session of parliament with announcement of the first concrete legislative move toward construction of the St. Lawrence seaway as a purely Canadian project.

The speech from the throne, opening the fall session, said parliament will be asked to authorize establishment of a Federal agency to handle construction of the multimillion dollar project either as a Canadian undertaking or as a joint development with the United States.

The seaway legislation was one of a number of measures forecast in the speech, read by Governor-General Viscount Alexander in one of the quietest parliamentary openings in years.

A bill to implement $400-million pensions to all Canadians 70 and over beginning next January will be introduced. A contributory fund will be established to finance the pensions.

Parliament will be asked to ratify the dispatch of the 27th Army Brigade and elements of the R.C.A.F. to join Gen. Eisenhower's integrated force in Europe and to ratify the invitation of Greece and Turkey to join the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Legislation will be submitted to provide for financing the publicly-owned C.B.C. along lines recommended by the Massey Commission on Arts and Sciences.

Measures aimed at bridging about some equalization of freight rates across the country will be introduced.

The speech referred to inflation, but did not indicate that the government plans to introduce price controls at this session.

Southern Tour For Elizabeth

LONDON, Oct. 10 (Wednesday).—(Reuters).—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will tour Australia and New Zealand early next year in place of the King and Queen, Buckingham Palace said tonight.

The decision was made on the advice of a team of doctors who—just a little more than two weeks ago—operated on the King's lung.

The announcement said that on the doctor's counsel the King "had most regretfully decided the tour would follow too soon after." It is understood the doctors were certain even before they operated that the tour would have to be abandoned.

The departure date and length of the tour remained unchanged but it is not known whether the original itinerary will be altered.

The King was to have sailed next Jan. 22.

Had he been well enough, the monarch would have left England in the 15,000-ton liner Gothic to arrive in Fremantle, Western Australia, March 1.

It is likely the Princess and the Duke will sail in the Gothic. Princess Margaret, the King's younger daughter, was to have gone with her parents.

SECOND TIME

This is the second time the King has been forced to cancel his Australian tour for medical reasons.

It was to have started in January, 1949, but was canceled when he underwent an operation on his right leg to clear a circulation obstruction.

His health improved, and the tour was re-scheduled for next year, "circumstances permitting."

It would have been the first visit to Australia and New Zealand by a reigning King and Queen. The present monarch and his wife visited both countries in 1927, but as the Duke and Duchess of York.

The King is known to be greatly disappointed by his doctors' decision. He has been anxious not to disappoint the people of the two countries again.

His doctors have told him that although he is mending well it would be unwise to risk his health so soon.

Troops Visited By Princess

QUEBEC, Oct. 9 (CP).—On the great meadow where Wolfe won a half-century for the throne, she may inherit, Princess Elizabeth reviewed Canada's 270 Brigade today and wished its soldiers good luck in Europe.

This colorful, even brilliant ceremony on the Plains of Abraham turned out to be the farewell parade for the formation that will soon move to Germany to represent Canada in an Allied military wall thrown up against a foe such as Wolfe could never have conceived.

There were 1,500 men of the brigade on parade. On the right flank was the 1st Infantry Battalion with its new scarlet berets.

In the centre was the Highland Battalion, its officers sporting the kilts of five different regiments. On the left was the Rifle Battalion wearing green berets.

Quebec was gay and festive with a holiday declared. The three-deep tiers of onlookers along the four routes and the groups of spectators at the many functions indicated at least half of Quebec's 205,000 population saw the visiting couple.

They saw today a smiling Princess, seemingly a trifle self-conscious at times but evidently taking happily in the free and easy welcome of the general public.

Princess, Duke Win Quebec

By JOHN LEBLANC

QUEBEC, Oct. 9 (CP).—Aged Quebec, where Canada's destiny once turned on a day of battle, handed a warm and friendly welcome today to the heiress to the throne of Britain.

The 34-year-old mother of Canada's ancient French culture, still a sprightly lady, served up a hearty reception to Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip at the "official" start of their long Canadian tour.

The hunting-bedecked city and its people sent the couple away for the Ottawa formalities of tomorrow with the easy warmth of the habitant.

The Royal couple reciprocated by using some of the preliminary French language of this town's salute across the river of a 21-gun royal salute.

At Wolfe's Cove the couple was met by Lieutenant-Governor Gaston Fauteux and Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec. In the biting early overcast, which later was supplanted by a wan sun, the spectators gave the pair a rough but warm welcome.

After about 20 minutes at the Cove, the couple moved to the Legislature to meet members of the Legislative Council in the red and gold chamber of that Upper House in Quebec's bicameral Legislature.

From there they went to Laval University, to be greeted by Mayor Maurice Roy, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Quebec, and then to city hall to meet Mayor Lucien Borne and sign the golden book. Then came the slow three-mile drive through the city.

At the end of the drive, the couple went to the citadel, where, atop the 350-foot promontory of Cape Diamond, they inspected the Regiment De La Chaudiere and signed the golden book.

From the citadel the couple went to lunch with the Lieutenant-Governor. After that, they went to the old battlefield on the Plains of Abraham.

SEE CHILDREN

A demonstration by 15,000 school children at the Citadelle and another reception at the Lieutenant-Governor's residence filled in the rest of the afternoon. Then it was time for the Princess.

Pamphlet Prepared Politeness Keynote In Greeting Royalty

Emphasis will be on politeness, rather than protocol, when Victorians meet Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip during their coming visit here.

R. A. Pennington, deputy provincial secretary, is preparing a pamphlet to guide those to be formally presented to the Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh. The pamphlet will outline the etiquette of such an occasion.

Briefly, the rules call for a bow, which need be no more than an inclination of the head.

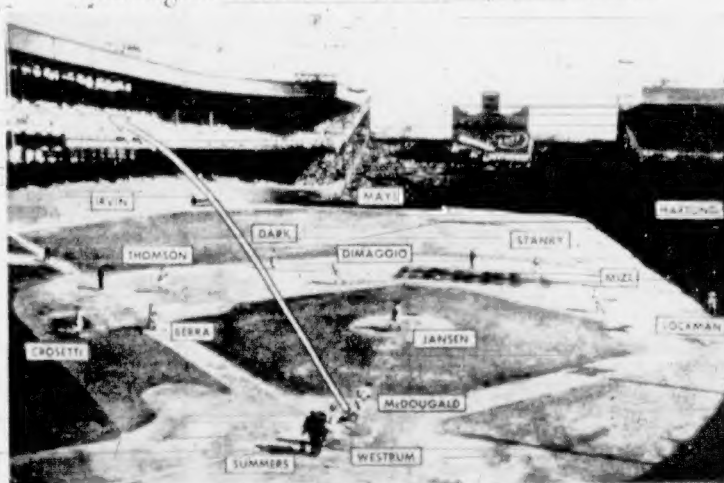

Both the Princess and her husband should be called "Your Royal Highness" the first time they are addressed. After that they should be addressed as "ma'am" or "sir."

NO MAJOR CHANGES

Provincial tour officials said yesterday that arrangements for the Royal tour of Victoria, Monday, Oct. 22, would not be changed—basically—even if it should rain on that day.

Only minor changes might be made for the comfort of the Royal couple.

McDougald Crashes Out Grand Slam Homer

A bruised baseball loops off into the left field stands and four New York Yankees take off like scalded cats as rookie second baseman Gil McDougald lets go with the third grand slam homer in World Series history. McDougald, who played with Victoria Athletics in 1949, delivered his mighty blow in the third inning of yesterday's game, won 13-1 by the Yankees. Giants stand open-mouthed as the ball vanishes into the second deck, carrying a good chunk of their championship hopes with it.—(AP Wirephoto.)

Chinese Units Move Onto Eastern Front

U.S. 8TH ARMY H.Q., Korea, Oct. 10 (Wednesday).—(AP).—The

U.S. Criticizes Polish Regime

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP).—The Communist regime of Poland has been sharply criticized by the United States for keeping the Polish people ignorant of the facts of the world in which they live.

A sharply-worded note delivered to the Polish ambassador here Sept. 20 was made public by the state department today after Poland did not publish it.

The department said suppression of the document was evidence of the "location of the Iron Curtain."

Allies ground ahead one mile in western Korea Tuesday but the Communists sprang one of their most significant war moves in months—a sudden shift of Chinese troops to the eastern front.

The new Red manoeuvre, possibly involving the transfer of a major Chinese unit, checked an Allied advance in the east. This meant just two things to embattled United Nations troops on the mountainous eastern front: The unending U.N.-hill assaults have at least partly ground down the rebuilt North Korean army, and the battle, already tough, is probably going to get tougher.

U.S. Eighth Army estimates placed Red losses at 80,000 since the Kaesong peace talks were suspended.

ALL ABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

"Women are looking doubtfully at new gold wedding and engagement rings in white, red, blue, green and even purple," says a news item in a British paper. "They cannot believe the gold is genuine."

A spokesman of the National Jewellers, Silversmiths and Allied Trades Association said that any gold of 18 carats or less can be easily colored by adding alloys, and the idea is gaining favor with the trade.

"Once women can be convinced that all that glitters can be gold, these colors will be popular, especially in bracelets, vanity cases and clips."

Can you imagine a woman complimenting a close friend on one of the new-style colored rings? The conversation would probably go like this: "Darling, what a FASCINATING ring that is! Such a beautiful shade of crimson—it matches your eyes, doesn't it? But I thought they always made wedding rings of gold or platinum."

"This is gold, darling—crimson gold. Haven't you heard? It's the latest thing. I thought you knew all there was to know about jewelry. You have had so many wedding rings, haven't you darling? And so many engagement rings and bracelets, and you've kept them all."

"Oh, I shouldn't worry about it, darling. Perhaps your husband will buy you a gold ring later on. After all, the cost of living is so wretchedly high that SOME people can't afford even the ordinary luxuries, can they, darling?"

Making baser metals look like gold is a time-honored practice. Many a country cousin who has bought a gold brick made of pure lead can testify to that.

Once upon a time gold was used for making practical things. But the useful functions of the noble metal have long ago been forgotten by most people. Gold used to be a working stuff, but now it has become an idle snob. Its only merit is that it looks like gold.

The idea of trying to make gold look like something else is an entirely new one. It could be conceived only in a subtle and decadent age like ours.

Some wealthy dowagers buy masses of jewelry, and make sure that everyone knows they possess the stuff. Then they stow it in a safe and wear worthless replicas. When gold looks like copper and emeralds look like chunks of broken bottle, how will they impress people with symbols of wealth and importance?

However, upside-down snobs are as numerous as right-side-up snobs in this age of the common man. A rather unfair cartoon of Churchill donning overalls to get the labor vote illustrates the point. Many people who would have been content in another age to be rich and happy drones now struggle to prove that they are honest peasants at heart.

Perhaps the snobbish woman of the future will wear a fortune in jewels disguised as dime-store trash.

Jury Finds Death of Aged Chinese Accidental

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury called in connection with the traffic death of 78-year-old Wong Lowe Mon, 756 Johnson Street, Sept. 29.

The elderly Chinese was in collision with a car at Fisgard and Douglas, driven by Herbert A. Hetherington of Campbell River and died of his injuries shortly afterward.

The jury foreman, G. R. Johns, asked Coroner E. C. Hart if a rider could be added recommending that the driver of the car should have remained at the scene of the accident.

Mr. Hart said that was a matter of law.

Hetherington, giving evidence freely, said he was a stranger in Victoria and had visited the city only three times in four years. He said he was driving up Douglas at 25 to 30 miles an hour and did not see the traffic lights at Fisgard.

He said he had been to a 16th Canadian Scottish reunion dinner at Bay Street Armories and had not had much to drink. He said after he realized he had hit someone he stopped and walked back.

Clarence Faa, a witness, said he had stopped at the red light when he noticed a car approaching in his rear view mirror.

"He drove right by me on the left and through the red light hitting the Chinese just as he crossed in front of my car," the witness said.

City police may lay a charge of manslaughter in connection with the accident.

Canada Plans Formation Of Agency for Seaway

OTTAWA, Oct. 9 (CP).—The Government, reiterating a determination to push ahead with the $700,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway—alone if necessary—said today it plans a Federal agency to take charge of details of the vast waterway and power project.

Pat Companies Off to Korea

CALGARY, Oct. 9 (CP).—Three more companies of the First Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry—headquarters company, support company, and one rifle company—have left for Korea. In Korea they will help relieve the Second Battalion which is scheduled to be back in Canada for Christmas.

May Contest Next Election, Catholics Say

VANCOUVER, Oct. 9 (CP).—Formation of a Roman Catholic provincial political party in British Columbia was suggested here during the weekend.

The inaugural convention of the B.C. Roman Catholic Education Association said it would swing the province's 100,000 Catholics behind a new political party if no present party champions public support for Catholic schools.

The association said a Catholic party could elect "at least 12 candidates" to the 48-member provincial legislature.

Delegates passed a resolution saying that if provincial political parties did not extend pledges to support the Catholic stand on education, a new party would be entered in the next B.C. election.

Fred Peters of North Vancouver suggested the name "Christian Democratic Party."

The association said it could hand over a block of 100,000 votes to any "legitimate political party" which would take up its cause in the separate schools dispute.

Oddities

MAESTAG, Wales, Oct. 9 (CP).—Church Benches were empty and the Sunday shift at the steel works was missing Sunday in the Welsh mining village.

Where was everybody? In bed. Most of the villagers were enjoying an extra hour of sleep because they had put their clocks back an hour—two weeks too soon.

British summer time ends officially at 2 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 21. But last Friday the local newspaper printed this reminder:

"Don't forget to put your clocks back one hour on Saturday night."

Churches were empty until the last hymn, when worshippers began arriving.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Oct. 9 (AP).—A local movie house is giving away diamonds to scare up trade at the box office.

A bowl with 12 diamonds valued at $100 each scattered among similar pieces of glass has been set up. The theatre-goer is invited to see if he can pick himself out a diamond.

FEELING SEEDY?

How often do you feel so sluggish and headachy that you just long for the day to be over? You know those days. You feel tenth-rate from the time you wake up in the morning. Every hour seems like ten.

Quite possibly you are suffering unnecessarily. If ordinary constipation and sluggish timidity are preventing proper waste elimination your system is slowly being poisoned. That's what usually makes you feel all dragged-out.

Kruschen Salts are the answer. Because they offer the same benefits as several famous Mineral Springs, Kruschen Salts are a valuable aid because they act two ways—laxative and diuretic. Kruschen is a gentle yet effective laxative and also stimulates healthy kidney action.

Paper Says Briton Driven Mad

LONDON, Oct. 9 (Reuters).—Edgar Sanders, 44-year-old British business man sentenced in Budapest in April, 1950, to 13 years' imprisonment as a spy, has been driven insane, the Sunday Dispatch reports.

Sanders was tried with Robert Vogel, American telephone company executive, Vogel, sentenced to 15 years, was released in April of this year.

Quoting Hungarian refugees, the Dispatch says Sanders had been removed from prison to an asylum in the mountains near the Czech border. He is being kept in solitary confinement and is closely guarded.

The Dispatch says Sanders' insanity explains why the Communist Hungarian government has rejected every British effort to secure his release.

Labor Blame Denied In Living-Cost Rise

WINNIPEG, Oct. 9 (CP).—Canada's spiraling cost of living is not the fault of organized workers, who must negotiate wage increases and, if necessary, justify them before conciliation board, Percy R. Bengough said today.

The president of the Trades and Labor Congress paused in Winnipeg on his way west to attend the British Columbia Civil Service Association's convention at Kamloops Oct. 18 and the Alberta C.S.A. convention at Calgary Oct. 26.

He said the congress has "hundreds" of wage agreements in effect across Canada. Generally they run for one or two years.

Persons who charge labor with forcing up living costs forget that manufacturers and retailers are not required to justify their mark-ups, Mr. Bengough said, although trade unionists must show cause for any wage increase they seek.

He said the congress is still pressing for imposition of price controls. Cheaper vegetables would not be enough to knock down living costs, Mr. Bengough said.

Wallace Defends Wartime Policies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (INS).—Former U.S. Vice-President Henry Wallace today gave secret testimony to the Senate Anti-Subversive Committee and then issued a new denial that he urged pro-Communist policies in China in 1944.

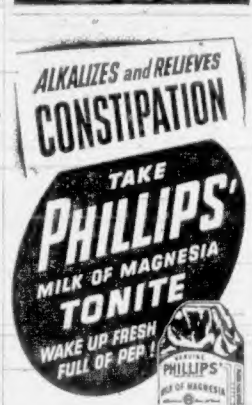

Wallace released an 11-page statement on his 1944 China mission to newsmen and said the committee refused to accept it for the record.

The statement declared that Wallace's wartime mission to China resulted in a recommendation "which originated wholly in a wish to see Chiang Kai-shek (the Nationalist leader) aided in the best manner possible." Wallace said it was hard for him to see how such a recommendation "can be called pro-Communist in any sense."

He added, however, that after the statement declared that Wallace's wartime mission to China resulted in a recommendation "which originated wholly in a wish to see Chiang Kai-shek (the Nationalist leader) aided in the best manner possible." Wallace said it was hard for him to

Off to a Happy Start

THE Royal tour got off to a happy start in Canada this week with the arrival of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip at Dorval airport at Montreal on Monday, and the official commencement of their tour at Quebec yesterday. Their Royal Highnesses made the air crossing of the Atlantic as if it were something they had been doing every day, and arrived in Canada apparently as fresh as when they had stepped on the air-liner in Great Britain; although everyone knows that an Atlantic air crossing in October can be strenuous. The fact that the Heiress Presumptive to the Throne and her consort were able to go ahead with the tour and that anxiety as to His Majesty's health had greatly lessened were the happiest circumstances of all. All Canada will respond now in a loyal and hearty welcome to the young couple.

It is a symbol of the growing maturity of Canada that the bi-lingual welcome of the 343-year-old city of Quebec, with children's choirs singing "God Save the King" in English and in French, became one of the highlights of the opening day of the tour with its 11 public functions. Here was the blending of two ancient cultures, both of which have enriched this land in their own way, joined in united homage to the representative of the Throne which is the keystone of the British Commonwealth of Nations. No acrimony from the past, but only a sage and sure hope for the future permeated the scene. Meanwhile the little habitant villages of old Lower Canada, the glorious colors of eastern hardwoods in the fall with their crimson oaks and flaming maples, combined in a colorful setting.

From Montreal to Quebec and so to Ottawa, and on from the nation's capital to the furthest limits of this broad land, Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip are tracing the steps taken by Their Majesties in 1939. It is the same land and the same people. Its people will lay aside everything now to express a welcome that will be deep, lasting and truly from the heart.

They Are Not Supermen

A PARAGRAPH in Newsweek suggests that top-level Western officials, those who plan the strategy of the cold war, are beginning to suspect that their opposite numbers in the Kremlin are just as confused as they are. This is a cogent thought worth a little expansion, for it is not without comfort.

It is a common failing to assume that even a potential enemy moves with a ruthless efficiency unmatched by the democratic nations, to think that behind the unknown is a well geared machine incapable of error. This in large part was the attitude when Hitler bestrode the world, yet how incorrect it was the aftermath revealed.

As postwar documents proved, here was no invincible regime solid in unity but an oligarchy rent with personal ambitions and dissension. Behind a seemingly well ordered organization there lurked confusion and doubt, and in many instances plan folly. Indecisions and lack of resource far outweighed their counterparts on the Allied side.

In the same way it is probably quite wrong to assume that the Kremlin operates without friction or with only unified aim. The changes and about-faces that astound the Western world in connection with Communism may well stem from mere gropings in the dark. In all likelihood U.S.S.R. statesmen are no wiser in their own interests than Western statesmen are in theirs. The Soviet state keeps its secrets secret, but that does not make these all-powerful; revealed, they might prove to be as innocuous as some elements of Western cold war planning.

In short, the chances are the Kremlin simply bumbles along much as we do, muddling through in the fashion common to most men and nations.

A Problem for the Dominion

IT is to be hoped that the efforts about to be made by the British Columbia Government to enlist aid from the Dominion in solving the problem of the Doukhobor Sons of Freedom will meet with more success than other similar representations at intervals during the last half-century. As the laws of Canada stand, any hopes of the provincial authorities being able to produce a lasting solution are virtually nil. The situation is one clearly calling for assumption of responsibility by the Dominion.

The consultative committee which has been investigating this problem for the past year undoubtedly has done splendid work, as Attorney-General Wismer says. Unfortunately, however, the most the committee can do is recommend; and even in that it is severely limited by laws whose framers never contemplated the occurrence in a civilized country of outbreaks of violence and lawlessness such as those perpetrated year after year by the Sons of Freedom.

The committee's proposal is that this fanatical sect, numbering about 2,500 persons, be removed from the communities they have harassed until now and resettled in a locality where they could harm no one but themselves. This plan is probably the best that could be devised under existing laws but it has serious weaknesses, for which the committee cannot be blamed.

The worst weakness is that of necessity the plan is based on consent of the Sons of Freedom themselves. At the moment they may be willing to fall in with the committee's idea; but the Sons of Freedom are notorious for unpredictable changes of mind. There can be no assurance that, supposing resettlement could be arranged for them, they would not suddenly refuse to go; or that if they did they would remain there.

In the circumstances there seems to be no way of handling this problem effectively except by special act of the Dominion parliament. Canada might be misjudged by the rest of the world, especially in times like the present, if it enacted measures to enforce the movement of any minority group against its will; but it looks as if that is something the country may have to face. The Dominion's duty is to protect its peaceful citizens, by whatever means may be necessary.

TRIED ALREADY

Sir,—A young woman has been acquitted on the charge of murdering her baby. And now we are told the attorney-general's department is considering a new charge. What kind of people are we and what kind of people compose the department of the attorney-general? Do they attend church and profess Christianity? Christ said "Blessed are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy." There is such a thing as the letter of the law, and surely this girl has received sufficient punishment without being put to the torture of a second trial.

BUTTLE LAKE

Sir,—I am sorry to prolong the controversy on the exhausted Buttle Lake issue but feel provoked to do so by two recent letters in your Readers' Forum. Apparently there still may be some who have misunderstood the whole case of the conservationists, as so ably presented by them and so accurately reported in the press. It has been admitted now by even the power commission that the lake would hardly be the same scenic attraction were its level to be raised. There are instances to be seen about in other dam projects; the shores are dangerous with submerged and floating matter and unpleasant to behold. As for logging only the fringes, the trees on the remaining fringe, as someone has already stated, are weakened and will topple from time to time in the wind, having grown as a unit with the others for mutual protection. This would create more unsightliness.

However, this sort of thing is blinking the main issue, which is, roughly, the dangerous precedent of expropriating a park area for the furtherance of big business interests. Granting the necessity of electric power for industrial development, it is no alternative to this scheme were available, it would be a regrettable concession. When there is a ready alternative, it is unthinkable. It is odd that the power commission should be so reluctant to consider alternatives when it obviously has not satisfactory assurance that Buttle Lake would be a suitable site. Beware lest this is a test case to pave the way for the demise of other park areas.

In the event our park areas were destroyed for the ends of commerce, it would be difficult to keep human greed from destroying everything for the sake of a few generations of richness. For when every great thing is man-made, there is no basis for humility. That is the real issue in the struggle for stewardship of Buttle Lake. Let no one say that it is not a great issue, or seek to obscure it by introducing cloudy side issues into the picture. Our parks must flourish for the nation's survival; our people must be educated to appreciate their value and enjoy them for their own help. If this latter were the case, the present Buttle Lake conflict would never have started.

COMMUNITY CHEST

Sir,—The response to the recent Community Chest Fund was disappointing, and I suggest that its partial failure was due to the way in which it was presented to the public.

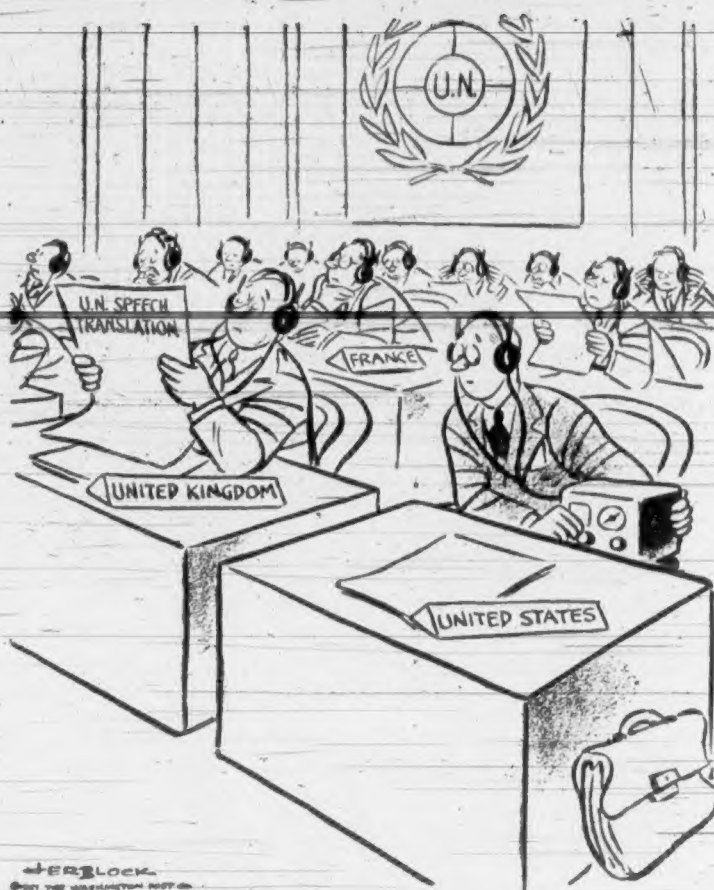

A slogan of "One-Third More" is merely irritating unless people are told why the greater sum is needed, and what for. With 100% employment in the city at higher wages than at any time in the history of the country, many people were a little skeptical about the need of increased giving to the fund.

If the campaign had been based on service, rather than hallyhoo, that is, on what is proposed to do for the less fortunate amongst us, many people who contributed one or two dollars on Monday night would probably have given ten or twenty dollars.

If the committee who administer the fund have made a report of their proposed expenditures, most of the people who were called upon last Monday have never seen it, and they ought to have been given the opportunity.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I KNEW that black day last year when Ken Svengali froze my marrow as well as my face, that sooner or later the result would catch up with me.

It did—yesterday.

I got a letter from a lady. Not infrequently I get letters from ladies, if you'll allow me to say so without conceit, but this one!

It starts by disarming me with a little white lie, to wit: "I really think you are quite nice looking and just as I expected you would look before your photograph appeared, but..."

Alas, there is a but. My face has worn out its welcome. And why? Because it's the same old face every morning; it doesn't alter. Says my lady friend:

"You see, the reason I now object to your picture is the fact that it doesn't matter whether you are amusing or serious, your expression never changes, and I like to picture the writer of any article as I think he should look if he really means what he writes."

Frankly, this has worried me too.

Normally I never look at myself on this page, the glimpse I get in the mirror of a morning lasts me all day and no wonder. But occasionally my eyes stray to the top of this column and there it is, that fixed stare that Svengali foisted on me—or should I say on you?

Mind, I've tried to do something about it. I've pleaded with the engravers, the printers, the makeup men downstairs, but one and all they look at me with a pitying shake of the head. Metal, they explain gently, isn't rubber. They can change the words I write but the face, no.

And the camera, they add with spice, never lies.

I once had a notion that—well, that it wouldn't matter much. A wishy-washy look, I thought, would suit a variety of writing moods. If only because it was so nondescript. But, apparently, even the thing Svengali patented betrays me.

Now I'm in a dither.

I feel deeply for my correspondent, too, don't think I don't. Prior to that black day last year I thought as she does—that writers (and singers) are often best left facially unexposed. I've never forgotten the shock I received when I actually set eyes on Gilder-sleeve's image; for example.

Let the reader form his, or her, own imaginative picture; that was the thesis. I should have insisted it be left that way.

There's one comfort, however. I'm not alone in my er-pictorial misery. Two other blokes keep me company; Gregory Clark, who also gazes at you from this page, and my young colleague G. E. Mortimore, who invites you all aboard on page two. Some Svengali froze them too.

Gregory says my lady friend has a constantly tiresome expression and she likewise longs for Gem to change his.

Alas again, I'm afraid they also are immobilized in zinc.

Unless, maybe, we concoct a petition of right, or something, praying leave for our physiognomies to abscond.

And then, affirms mildly, "we'll soon forget what you looked like and be much more interested in your articles" (plural please, printer).

Reporting From Ottawa

NEVER since the King and Queen were here a dozen years ago has there been such a yearning in the capital's feminine hearts for invitations to official functions as there is right now. Everybody who has social standing or aspires to have same wants to be presented to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Many and devious are the methods used to try to get on the lists of invitees to the functions here in honor of the Princess and her husband. But, at that there isn't quite the mad scramble reported in Washington. Maybe Canadians are more decorous.

Mainly the pressure has been on the prime minister's office and city hall. The government has invited 2,000 to the official reception at the Chateau Laurier—and has disappointed hundreds, maybe thousands, more for whom there just isn't room.

The capital's first woman mayor, Dr. Charlotte Whitton, has had the same trouble deciding who should be invited to the civic luncheon in Their Royal Highnesses' honor. Her task was made all the more difficult by the fact that municipal politics are close to the people—and many voters will remember being slighted now when Mayoress Whitton comes up for re-election 13 months hence.

Actually, mayors right across the country are facing the same problem—many of their supporters want nothing more than to shake the royal hand or dine in the royal presence, but few can be chosen. Amusement at the mayors' predicament is about the only cause for levity these days among the harassed town planners of the secretary of state's department.

Invitations to the reception and dinner at Government House are in the same category as summonses to the palace. The guest list is highly select, and few of those not invited expected to be invited. The reception at Government House for newspaper and radio correspondents and photographers covering the tour is in the same category. But probably few people are more disappointed than the women of the I.O.D.E. in Ottawa. The Princess is to make the official presentation of the presentation of the rug woven by the Dowager Queen Mary and purchased for the nation by I.O.D.E. contributions. It will be received on behalf of Canada by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, chairman of the National Gallery's board of trustees.

The event is to take place in the Commons' railway committee room, which, while big enough to hold 300 N.A.T.O. delegates and officials three weeks ago, isn't nearly large enough to accommodate everyone who wants to witness this ceremony. Every I.O.D.E. member in Ottawa, it seems, wants to be present when the Princess, on behalf of the I.O.D.E., delivers the $100,000 rug to the nation. And for good measure, I.O.D.E. contingents from neighboring communities which the Royal couple won't visit also want to attend.

As one official smilingly put it, "It's been a lively week in I.O.D.E. circles."

Among those fortunate enough to receive invitations to receptions, the commonest inquiries are "What does one do? What does one say to them?"

Answer (1): The women curtsy—a feminine movement of respect dating from 1575 or so, made by bending the knees and lowering the body (Webster). So the women of Ottawa are brushing up on their curtsies, bearing in mind the admonition, don't curtsy so low that the Princess will have to stoop to shake hands. The men bow—slightly, not deeply.

Answer (2): Most won't have a chance to say more than "How do you do, Your Royal Highnesses"—but, if the opportunity does present itself for conversation, official advice is to talk naturally, let the Princess or Duke lead the conversation, and address them as "Madam and Sir."

Lesson to Aggressors

(From a speech by Sir Gladwyn Jebb)

WHILE in theory it could be argued that the disputes regarding Palestine, Indonesia, Greece, Iran and even Kashmir could somehow have been settled even if there had been no United Nations, it would be generally agreed that action taken by the United Nations in all these instances either prevented hostilities from breaking out or succeeded once they had broken out in stopping them after what was really a very short period.

Among the successes I would unhesitatingly place Korea. The invasion of South Korea by North Korea was a result of miscalculation almost certainly made in the Kremlin, to whom it must have seemed very probable that no real and decisive support would be given to the South Koreans by what the Soviet Government always refers to as the Imperialists.

We all know the result—how the United Nations forces were formed, and how consequently a lesson was given to aggressors which may well be heeded all over the world.

We cannot be sure that if similar aggression took place elsewhere the United Nations would at once be able successfully to cope with it as in Korea, but we do at least now know much better than we did the technique which could be employed. The mere fact of our successful resistance is of enormous significance from the point of view of promoting general peace.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

ON a country walk in England, looking for some of the rarer birds I had never yet seen, I came on one of those narrow little canals, long abandoned, which used to criss-cross the island as important traffic systems in the days before roads were fit to bear commerce.

There are still great canal systems in Britain on which a basic commerce is borne. But the invention of the railway and the improvement of highways has left the isles with this legacy of little and beautiful waterways without any meaning any more save beauty.

Eels abound in some of these quiet waterways, and I came on a farm hand lifting a wicker reel trap. He told me what local tradition had given him about the old days, when little barges were drawn along these miniature canals.

"Gangs of human men," he exclaimed to me, "used to haul the barges. Not horses. Men were a lot cheaper than horses in them days. With ropes, they walked on the paths that used to be laid along the banks here. You can feel them hard yet, though all that was hundreds of years ago. At all the villages along the route, there was poor inn where these gangs lay overnight. There was strong men and weak men, and also women. Depending, you could either hire a small gang of strong men fairly dear, or a large gang of weak men, and women cheap. Boys, of course, too. Nobody wanted for work, them days."

He took three eels out of the wicker trap and transferred them writhing furiously into a potato sack.

"Different now," he reflected. "It gets harder and harder to be able to afford a man."

And with a proud look, he walked off with his bag of eels, along the grass-grown ancient path that is hard still.

With the Wind

By THOMAS R. HENRY

Science Editor, North American Newspaper Alliance

WASHINGTON—Naval meteorologists are trying to tailor navigation to fit the winds. Their calculations show that not only great economies in the operations of ships, but notable increases in speed, could be achieved if ocean-going ships went back to the old sailing-ship methods, instead of following shorter distances between two points on a map.

A progress report has just been made to the Office of Naval Research by Louis P. Allen, staff oceanographer of the undersea warfare branch, showing some major possibilities in the offing. Even when there are only normal winds, according to the statistics he cited, sailing with them instead of against them can increase the daily run of a ship from 28 to 38 miles, with no increase in fuel consumption. Possibilities have been neglected, he pointed out, because only recently have methods been available to predict winds at sea with much accuracy.

But, he said, meteorological techniques are available by which the force and direction of winds in any region of the ocean can be predicted with fair accuracy, almost from hour to hour and a ship's course can be changed in accordance with the shifting pattern.

These techniques, Allen pointed out in his report, resulted largely from the necessity for accurate information when planning landing operations during the last war. Since then they have been largely neglected. The old sailing-ship captain had no such advantages. He had to feel his way from wind to wind. Today, a route could be selected almost with certainty.

He cited the case of a ship which made 18 knots under normal head-wind conditions, but only 13 in adverse weather. If strong head winds and high seas existed along a route which normally required seven days to accomplish, a captain could make the same time by sailing as much as 850 miles out of his way. At the same time, he would be assured of reaching port free of damage, and with far less strain on his crew.

In the past, it was pointed out in the report, individual mariners have had their own systems of following the winds, some of which were quite successful, but they knew nothing of the scientific predictions which could be made available.

Welcome in New World Puts Princess at Ease

QUEBEC, Oct. 9 (CP)—Text of an address by Princess Elizabeth in reply to a toast proposed by Premier Maurice Duplessis at a Quebec state dinner: Mr. Premier:

I am very happy to be able to tell you that my father, the King, grows daily in strength. Yesterday when I first saw Canada I felt, as I think must always be the case for one who comes for the first time across the Atlantic to the new world, not only wonder and excitement, but also a feeling of strangeness; the strangeness of the unknown. But from the moment when I first set foot on Canadian soil the feeling of strangeness went, for I knew myself to be not only amongst friends, but amongst fellow countrymen. And as I passed through this fine old city my heart was filled with pride and happiness by the warmth of this Canadian welcome which was given to myself and my husband. Your speech this evening, Mr. Premier, has put this welcome into eloquent words, and I thank you for it from the bottom of my heart.

Tonight my husband and I start upon our long journey which will lead us twice across the breadth of this continent. I need not tell you, I am sure, with what feelings of hope and expectation we look forward to it. Tomorrow night from Ottawa, the capital of Canada, I shall be able to speak to you again, tonight I am sure you are as happy as I am to be amongst you.

In Quebec's welcome today, Mr. Premier, I have felt that the good wishes of all of you will follow us on our journey, and for this, too, I thank you. I am very glad that our path will lead us back through this province and through the famous city of Montreal. And so tonight, I do not say "good-bye," but with great happiness "au revoir."

to dress for the evening's State dinner given by the Province of Quebec.

In a short, 250-word speech, she told the guests that the word from Buckingham Palace with which she has been touched regularly by phone—is that her father is getting better. Then, on her reception in Canada, she said it was assured her she is among friends.

OTTAWA, its pulse quickening under a gay dress of festive flags and bunting, waited eagerly to welcome its Royal heir apparent and her consort.

Heart of the long weeks of preparation for the Royal tour, Ottawa will extend an official welcome and greeting tomorrow to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

TWO-DAY STAY

Their train, opening a month-long sweep across the country and back, will chug into an especially-prepared siding off the capital's picturesque Island Park Drive at 10 a.m. E.S.T., the spot where the King and Queen were received in Ottawa in 1939. There they will be greeted by a glittering array of representatives of the state, the city and the diplomatic corps.

They will remain in the capital tomorrow and Thursday for a brisk round of social and official activities and then leave early Friday to open their tour of Ontario proper.

School children, with a big part in the official program, eagerly await their first glimpse of a Royal Princess.

Princess, Duke Attend Quebec State Dinner

QUEBEC, Oct. 9 (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh tonight attended a state dinner offered by the Quebec government as their second day in Canada neared its close.

The elaborate dinner at the Chateau Frontenac, with Premier Maurice Duplessis as host, was the second-last of almost a dozen events crowded into their 12½-hour visit in Quebec city.

A crowd of hotel guests filling the lobby of the towering hotel gave the Royal couple an ovation when they arrived for the dinner at 8 p.m.

Premier Duplessis escorted the Princess wearing an ermine cape over her evening dress of grey silver lace and tulle.

The blue ribbon of the Order of the Garter was passed over her left shoulder.

AT DUPLESSIS' RIGHT

At the dinner, attended by more than 250 guests, Princess Elizabeth sat at Premier Duplessis' right and at her right was Hon. Gaspard Fauteux, Quebec's lieutenant-governor.

At the premier's left was the Duke, with Mrs. Fautex next to his Royal Highness.

The menu:

Hors d'oeuvres of smoked Gaspé salmon, foie gras maison and specially-selected cod livers, all served on a light puffed paste.

Consomme royal of chicken broth and fine sherry, garnished with colored crustards.

Laurentian trout poached in Rhine wine.

Breast of pheasant.

Vegetable and fruit salad served in a creamy dressing.

Mousse.

Petit fours.

Hot-house grapes.

Premier Duplessis, proposing a toast to the Royal guests, said:

GREAT COMFORT

"In these troubled times, facing as we do grave threats to the fundamentals of our civilization, it is of great comfort to have persons in high places capable of preserving the traditions we cherish."

He offered the best wishes of the province to the Royal couple's two children—Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

The premier spoke French and Princess Elizabeth replied in both French and English.

WYCOMBE, England (CP).—Authorities in this Buckinghamshire town tried to solve the housing shortage by asking families to share houses. But the plan was a failure, mainly because too many feuds resulted from sharing the kitchen.

Little Singers Lift Voices In Greeting

QUEBEC, Oct. 9 (CP)

Dressed in white cassocks, Les Petits Chanteurs de Jesus sang "O, St. Laurent, Fleuve de Gloire" for Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip today.

The Little Singers of Jesus sang the verses while 15,000 flag-waving school children greeted the visitors at a demonstration in Quebec's huge Coliseum.

The 35-voice group from nearby Stadacona College averaged 10½ years, but their clear, trained voices sparkled in the big amphitheatre.

The school children joined in lustily with the chorus of the song which tells the glory of the St. Lawrence River, after singing "God Save the King" in French and English and "O Canada" in French. The Princess was presented with a bouquet of roses.

DR. J. R. MACKAY

British Columbia, will deliver an address on Formosa in the Victoria College auditorium on Monday, Oct. 15, at 8:15 p.m.

The address is sponsored by the University Extension Association of Victoria.

Dr. MacKay will deal with the past history of Formosa, present issues in Formosa, and the future role of the country in relation to the rest of the world.

Born in Formosa in 1915, Dr. MacKay was educated in Japan, the United States and Canada. He served with the Canadian Army during the World War.

He is the author of two books on geographic subjects.

J. S. Patrick Funeral Held

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon in St. John's Church here for John Smith Patrick, 80, who died Oct. 4 at Port Coquitlam.

Born in Norfolk, England, Mr. Patrick had lived in Victoria since 1936. He was a member of the Canadian Legion, Imperial Veterans, and the Sons of England Lodge.

He served for 15 years as chief police instructor in Winnipeg. Mr. Patrick joined the Norfolk Regiment at 17, and later returned to London and joined the Metropolitan Police.

He served with the cavalry through the Boer War, then came to Canada and joined the Winnipeg Police.

He retired in 1932 and came to Victoria four years later.

He is survived by four daughters: Mrs. Frank Bannister and Miss Ivy Patrick of Vancouver; Mrs. G. Richardson of Winnipeg; and Mrs. N. Stevenson of Port Coquitlam; two sons, Herbert in Australia and Charles of Kelowna, B.C.; two sisters, and one brother in England.

Canon George Biddle officiated at the services and interment was in Royal Oak Burial Park. McCall Bros. were in charge of arrangements.

Moresby House Commissioned Headquarters Of H.M.C.S. Malahat in Impressive Rite

MARINE AND TRAVEL NEWS

An important event took place last night for men of H.M.C.S. Malahat, Victoria's naval reserve division.

At an impressive ceremony, Moresby House, Esquimalt Road, was officially commissioned as new divisional headquarters of the reserve unit. A brief proclamation was read by Capt. Ronald Jackson, founder and commanding officer of the reserve group. A naval guard and members of the Naden Band participated and many special guests attended the affair.

Rear Admiral W. B. Creery, Flag Officer Pacific Coast, took a leading part in the commissioning ceremony.

He paid tribute to Capt. Jackson for his efforts toward getting Moresby House for the naval reservists.

"It has always been my opinion that a reserve division should have its own and separate headquarters," the rear admiral said. He urged the reservists to interest their friends in the unit with a view to increasing its membership.

Prayers during the commissioning ceremony were offered by Rev. H. Laporte, Command Catholic chaplain, and Rev. L. Gillard, Command Protestant chaplain.

SILOX BACK IN SPRING

The destroyer Sioux, now on her second tour of operations in the Korean war zone, will return to Esquimalt early next spring, Rear Admiral W. B. Creery, Flag Officer Pacific Coast, said yesterday.

He has returned from a 16-day trip to the Far East where he boarded all three Canadian warships now serving the United Nations—the destroyers Sioux, Athabaskan and Cayuga, all from Esquimalt.

Unofficially, The Daily Colonist has learned the Sioux is due here on or about March 8.

The Admiral went to the war zone to get a clear picture of the situation.

The Sioux and Athabaskan were at Sasebo, Japan, when Rear Admiral Creery boarded the former. Later both ships served as a screen for the United States carrier Rendova.

A highlight of the trip was his transfer from the Sioux to the United States carrier in a helicopter. Later he transferred to the Athabaskan and was aboard that ship when she conducted a bombardment south of Chinnampo Sept. 27.

Guns of the destroyer blasted at unseen targets. Direction for fire was provided by planes from the carrier. Destroyed were warehouses, a bridge and gun emplacements.

"The Communists have established quite a reputation for repairing bridges," Admiral Creery remarked. "No sooner do the spans get blasted than repair crews apparently make an immediate start to repair them."

While in the war zone Admiral Creery visited with a number of UN troops and United Nations authorities.

He described the conflict as a "different kind of war." Rarely was it possible to spot exceptionally large concentrations of troops or supplies.

Leaving Tokyo Oct. 3, Admiral Creery returned to this coast via the Aleutian Islands and San Francisco in military aircraft. He returned to Esquimalt over the weekend.

B.C. Declared Leader In Growth of Industry

British Columbia's industrial expansion in the past 10 years outranks any other provincial expansion of the past half century, Premier Byron Johnson said last night.

In population growth, the province is ahead of the Pacific states of Oregon and Washington, moving from 800,000 a decade ago to 1,150,000 now, he said. Only California is ahead, with an increase from 6,780,000 to 10,813,000 people.

Premier Johnson was addressing the National Office Management Association (Victoria branch) at its first meeting of the 1951-52 year.

Dealing briefly with the province's industrial expansion, the premier touched first on Vancouver Island's new industrial wealth. He credited introduction of the forest management license scheme, despite some early criticism, with enabling the new pulp industry near Campbell River to become established.

INDICATIVE

"What is happening at Campbell River is indicative of what is going on in the rest of the province," the premier added. "Unless we get the John Hart power development expanded to 160,000 horsepower, we will hold back future industrial development."

"Natural resources are coming under the focus of big industrialists who are moving millions of dollars to develop them," he said. Business men must encourage the development.

The Aluminum Company of Canada at Kitimat will eventually develop 1,600,000 horsepower, more than the total now produced in the province. Aluminum will be produced in 1954, he added. That will be accomplished through use of nothing but water power.

At Port Edwards, Celanese

Corporation of America has started work under a forest management license, part of which included plans for its pulp plant. Premier Johnson continued.

By next April, the Pacific Great Eastern Railway will be extended from Quemes to Prince George, bringing the possibility that the area's development might include another pulp and paper plant.

Average thickness of the ice-cap which covers most of Greenland is about 1,000 feet.

"I DARE ANYONE!"

to deny that Sarnak has brought relief to thousands of people in Canada. I DON'T WANT YOUR MONEY

HERE'S MY OFFER! Buy one bottle of Sarnak, use up to half the bottle, then if you decide that Sarnak has not helped you, return the remaining half bottle to me and I'll return your money plus your cost* of mailing. CAN I MAKE A FAIRER, SQUARER OFFER?

SARNAK relieves ARTHRITIC PAINS! ACHING BACK! some KIDNEY, LIVER and STOMACH UPSETS! LACK OF VITALITY! Read Letters below!

Mr. I. Harnam, Vancouver, British Columbia, writes: "On and on for two years I suffered with a minor kidney upset that gave me a great deal of bother. When I first heard about Sarnak I bought a bottle for what I thought was a joke because I had tried everything else and I was sure that Sarnak would do no more than to take my money. But Sarnak did help me. It gave me real relief and I am very grateful to you for producing such a medicine."

Mr. Gordon J. Macgregor, Sudbury, Ontario, writes: "I must thank you for what Sarnak has done for me. I am now able to do my household work and I am now able to do my work as usual."

Mr. E. C. Chartrand, Sudbury, Ontario, writes: "I would just like to let you know that we are now on our second bottle of Sarnak and it has done a great deal for my husband and I. I had a sore back which kept me from sleeping at night and felt like I was being crushed. Now that we are taking Sarnak both my husband and I are relieved of pain, able to sleep better and have more energy. I certainly recommend it to other people who may be suffering from a run-down condition or from arthritis or neuritis pain."

Mr. T. J. Apple, By. Harnam, Ont. writes: "I was troubled with a kidney trouble and kidney trouble. I tried several remedies and did not seem to improve. I started taking Sarnak and after the first bottle I slept better, did not have to get up during the night and my back-ache was relieved. My wife, who suffered stomach upset also obtained relief to her trouble by taking Sarnak. Sarnak has helped us considerably and I will certainly recommend it to anyone suffering as we did."

Mr. J. J. Apple, By. Harnam, Ont. writes: "I was troubled with a kidney trouble and kidney trouble. I tried several remedies and did not seem to improve. Are YOU Fair to Yourself?

or had you given up hope...

Are you suffering in any way? Can you find in the letters on this page other people who once suffered as you do now? If you can, then remember that these people and thousands like them once felt as you do now! Miserable, run down, nervous because of some kidney, liver and stomach upsets, arthritic or rheumatic pains, lack of vitality, nutritional anemia, bilious dizziness or indigestion.

Yes, perhaps many of these people were like you, fed up with trying this and that with no results! What you see and hear you must believe! More people are buying Sarnak than any other medicine like it! Ask your druggist, he knows and will tell you how many people buy Sarnak from him and what it has done for so many of his customers.

You don't have to even risk your money to try Sarnak. Take advantage of the money-back offer above and do it now! As you probably know, from time to time Sarnak, because of the overwhelming demand, is in short supply. Right now your druggist and his wholesaler has a fresh quota.

Why take a rough and stony road through life if you are suffering now or more minor non-surgical symptoms that Sarnak can and will relieve? Some people took Sarnak for symptoms for which it is not recommended and that only a doctor should treat. We ask you to take Sarnak only for those symptoms for which it is intended! If Sarnak doesn't give you evident relief in three days, we refund your money!

* This offer good only until October 15, 1951.

City All-Stars Lose B.C. Title In Last Period

Victoria's juvenile all-stars lost out, 8-6, to North Burnaby Legion in the provincial boxla final at Memorial Arena on Monday after leading for most of the game.

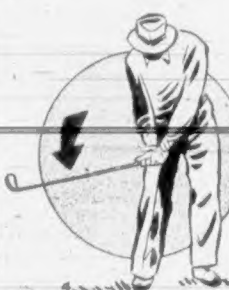

Victoria took a 2-0 lead on goals by Dave Edgar and Steve Foster and led 2-1 at the quarter.

Ed Longpre and Bob Showers boosted Victoria's lead to 4-1 but Arnie scored for Burnaby to make it 4-2 at the half.

Victoria still led 6-5 going into the final quarter but Yonchek scored three goals to give Burnaby the title.

Golf--- Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

In the short shot with irons your left foot remains firmly on the ground with little or no lifting of the left heel as in wood or long iron shots. This is possible because the hip pivot is less and you make only a three-quarter instead of a full swing with the short irons. You keep the body action at a minimum in a short iron-swing, which is upright swing and in this way you get the correct flight for the ball from the left of the club. As you swing down, you delay the uncocking of the hands until they have reached the point pictured. Here the left leg has begun to brace smoothly while the left arm and shoulder are swinging the club down in to the ball. You must always be careful not to rush a three-quarter swing. From this point on, the wrists begin to uncock and provide the snap that delivers the power.

Esquimalt and Victoria West scored victories in Victoria and District Football Association play over the holiday week-end. Esquimalt climbed into second place by trouncing Heavys, 8-2.

at Royal Athletic Park Monday and Victoria West scored its first victory of the season by downing cellar-dwelling Alcoa, 5-2, at Lower Beacon Hill Sunday.

The Esquimalt scoring was shared by Gordie Duncan, Bill Walker, Nip Sage and young Scotty Stewart, each tallying twice. Arnie Ferguson, who played his first game of the season for the Caribgeons, and Frank Grealey shared the losers' goals.

Wests overcame 1-0 and 2-1 deficits in registering their victory Sunday. Bernie Clarkson led the Greenshirts with two goals while Gordie and Garry Pynn and Roy Speller added the others. Don Burgess and Johnny Rice scored for Alcoa.

Winnipeg's school teachers met at the civic auditorium to discuss their part in civil defense.

"We are offering our services as a group," said T. A. McMaster, secretary of the Manitoba Teachers Society. "There are 1,100 teachers in Winnipeg."

PIONEER LAUNDRY BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS

Mr. J. E. Jones and Mr. C. A. Jones announced today the sale of the ECONOMY STEAM LAUNDRY to Mr. Samuel Bestman of Victoria. Mr. Bestman has lived in Victoria for thirty-nine years. He is well known in the laundry industry in Victoria, having been associated with it for over twenty-two years.

The Economy Steam Laundry was started by the Jones Brothers in 1912 and commenced operations with a staff of six. Today the firm employs a staff of eighty.

Economy Steam Laundry specializes in a complete line of family services, several of which were introduced into the homes of Victorians, for the first time by this firm.

Economy is well known in Victoria for the fast pickup and delivery service, as well as its fine quality work.

The Jones Brothers sincerely thank their many customers for their past patronage, and solicit continued support for the new owner.

PRUDENTIAL'S ROCK EXPANDS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA . . .

with the opening of the new
Vancouver "Kingsway" branch

Is it any wonder that Prudential is expanding in British Columbia—Canada's fastest growing Province

Since shortly after the turn of the century, Prudential has been privileged to aid in the growth of British Columbia, and to grow with the Province. Today, more than sixteen million dollars of policyholders' funds are invested in British Columbia's homes, utilities and businesses. Today, also, British Columbia families enjoy the protection of more than fifty-seven million dollars of Prudential life insurance, and each year B.C. policyholders and beneficiaries are paid or credited more than one million dollars.

To extend Prudential service to an ever-increasing number of British Columbia families, a new office was opened in Vancouver recently at 3117 Kingsway. The Prudential representatives who will staff this office . . . like all members of the Prudential family . . . are qualified to help you plan today a secure future for your family and yourself.

THESE ARE GOOD MEN TO KNOW . . .

They are the Prudential men in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster. Through training and experience they are well qualified to help you plan your family's security with life insurance.

To guarantee your family a regular income . . . to make sure your children will have a university education . . . to leave your wife a deed instead of a debt . . . to retire to independence . . . arrange to see one of them today. Ask him about Prudential's "Dollar Guide". The half hour it takes to learn how the Dollar Guide can help you plan your future could be the most important of your life.

Thomas J. Carlyle, C.L.U., brings sixteen years of service to Prudential families in Vancouver to his new post as manager of the Kingsway District. Standing on the right, being congratulated by William Mann, Manager of the Vancouver District Office. Mr. Carlyle has long been interested in community and civic affairs. As well, he is Regional Vice-President for British Columbia of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada. All around, he is a good man to know.

As a general rule, and in the long run, wind energy is a better choice for power generation than fossil fuels. The reason is that fossil fuels are finite, and their use produces greenhouse gases that contribute to global warming. Wind energy, on the other hand, is a renewable resource that produces no greenhouse gases. It is also a cleaner source of energy, as it does not produce air pollution or other environmental impacts. Wind energy is also a more cost-effective source of power, as the cost of wind energy has decreased significantly in recent years. Finally, wind energy is a more reliable source of power, as it is not subject to the same price fluctuations as fossil fuels. For these reasons, wind energy is a better choice for power generation than fossil fuels.

As a result, the 1990s have been a decade of "renewal" for the Spanish wine industry, and the 1990s have also been a decade of change from left to right.

For the first time, people who sought to improve the quality of their wine began to take control. They were the owners of finques. As a result, these owners began to care more about the quality of their wine than the quantity of their wine.

1. The first step in the process of the investigation is the identification of the problem. This is done by the investigator who is responsible for the investigation. The investigator must identify the problem and the scope of the investigation. The investigator must also identify the objectives of the investigation and the methods to be used. The investigator must also identify the resources available for the investigation.

Declarer's thoughtlessness in today's deal might not have been costly against weak defense, but it actually resulted in the loss of the game contract. South-South vulnerable.

South's first error was in taking out the three-trump contract to which he could contribute seven sure tricks in the majors and auxiliary stoppers in the minors. However, if South had conducted his play properly, he would have made a better score by virtue of his heart honors.

Uncle Wiggly Story

UNCLE WIGGLY DIGS POTATOES

"They certainly do," said Buster.

"Oh," said Buster. That's all he said until his daddy, who, as you know, was Uncle Wiggly, said, "I don't know when I have smelled anything so good as your roast potatoes, Buster."

"I am glad you like them, daddy," spoke Buster. "And as there are plenty, you are invited to the roast potato party."

"Thank you, my Rabbit Scout," spoke Uncle Wiggly. "Does any one else want to say anything?" he asked politely.

"Oh, dear," said Buster, and she sniffed hard. For those roast potatoes certainly had a most delicious smell.

Buster looked at the hat that Bunty had brought back to him. The Rabbit Scout looked at Bunty, at Susie and at Uncle Wiggly. Next Buster said, "You are also invited to the roast potato party, if you want to come, Bunty and Susie."

"Thank you," said Bunty. "I want to come—very much."

"Thank you," spoke Susie. "So do I—very much."

As he was digging, the rabbit gentleman heard a noise in a clump of bushes that grew near the edge of the potato field. Mr. Longears looked but could see nothing. "I guess it was only the wind," said Uncle Wiggly.

But it wasn't the wind. It was an adventure. I will tell you about it tomorrow in the cake box where the butter can't find it to spread on some raspberry jam for the pussy cat's birthday party.

Air Service Hit By Gas Shortage

CANBERRA, Oct. 9 (Reuters)—Australia may have to cut civil air services soon because of gasoline shortages resulting from the Iranian oil situation, Hupert Anthony, civilian aviation minister, said today. Prime Minister Robert Menzies said there was no suggestion of gas rationing because of Iranian developments.

Fuel Shortage Looms for Wood, Sawdust Burners

Persons who burn wood and sawdust to heat their homes can look forward to a chilly winter unless they have their fuel on hand now or are expecting immediate deliveries from fuel dealers disclosed yesterday.

There is a critical shortage of both fuels in Victoria as a result of the recent forest closure. Even now people burning sawdust have to wait two or three weeks for deliveries—"or longer," one dealer reported. He said a

Youths Raid City Stores On Holiday

Youthful Victorians were the big problem to the city police department during the week-end holiday.

Police reported two youths were seen running from the Vancouver Island Coach Lines newsstand early Sunday morning. About $100 in cigarettes and tobacco was reported missing.

Police also said two teen-aged youths were caught in the act of stealing money from milk bottles in the 300 block Cook Street early Monday.

The Empire Meat Market was also broken into Monday morning and $165 in tax money, pennies and stamps stolen.

Octopus Claws Swimmer's Leg

BOMBAY, Oct. 8 (Reuters).—A 25-year-old engineer fought a battle with an octopus at a seaside resort near here last week and lived to tell about it.

"I was swimming with some friends at Juhu Beach," the engineer, M. R. Iyer, said. "It went out a couple of hundred yards from shore, into the surf."

"Suddenly, my right leg became entangled in something soft and gripping. An instant later, I found strong claws, like suckers, gripping me."

"Before I knew what was happening, the claws seemed to be twisting some liquid into me, and I felt terrific pain all over my body."

"I tried everything but couldn't free myself from the tentacles, which were dragging me under water."

"I made one last desperate try to free myself by kicking my feet. Suddenly I was clear, took a few strokes, felt bottom and ran for the beach."

Daily Astrology

By RITA DEL MAR

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 10, 1951

Today's Quotation: "Let us be like conversation; it must be fresh and crisp, so sparkling that you scarcely notice the bitter in it."—Charles Dudley Warner.

Wednesday for Everyone: Proceed methodically with routine and ordinary affairs; do not incur misunderstandings or intemperance if you can avoid doing so by being alert, friendly, ingenious. Look for Your Birthdate and Birthplace Below:

March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Promote common aims. Be on the alert re earnings, vocational revenue.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus)—Be receptive to opinions, objectives of parents and of superiors. Protect credit rating.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Devote some extra time to getting around, be careful in transit and regarding the written word or statements of others.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer)—Stay on the safe side if things are somewhat out of control or the financial pattern is confused.

July 23 to Aug. 22 (Leo)—Work toward common goals but let another lead the team. Kludge tension over ambitions or commercial issues.

Aug. 23 to Sept. 22 (Virgo)—Make efficiency, general usefulness, your major objective. Smooth relationships with people.

Sept. 23 to Oct. 22 (Libra)—Enjoy life's lighter side if the occasion arises; but take no risks involving money or friendship.

Oct. 23 to Nov. 22 (Scorpio)—Put aside your own interests for the moment to ease up, or pursue some duty or fundamental objective.

Nov. 23 to Dec. 22 (Sagittarius)—Don't consider judgments closed; you are likely to reshape opinions about some issue or individual.

Dec. 23 to Jan. 19 (Capricorn)—Make an effort to protect interests re money, belongings. Do not take on added responsibilities.

Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 (Aquarius)—Put yourself and your surroundings in a better light. Curb over-optimism; don't be deceived.

Feb. 19 to March 20 (Pisces)—Adopt a policy of reticence, moderation. Ease your pace, seek privacy, added repose.

Planning Ahead: Good for sociability, entertaining, etc. Oct. 16, 17, 19, 21, 23, 25, 26, evenings of 27 and 28, 29, 30.

Sympathy Seen In French Talks

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP).—Anglo-French talks aimed at formation of a common front against Communist-led rebels in Malaya and Indo-China "revealed a close identity of views and interests," says a British political and military official.

"Difficult Day?.. Take a Disprin"

Why DISPRIN? Because DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.

DISPRIN is readily absorbed, because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) DISPRIN permits speedy absorption and gives quicker relief.

DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

Science Progresses

For 50 years we have used little white tablets—acetylsalicylic acid—for relief of pain. Today this familiar pain-killer is available in a new form without the disadvantages of acidity, insolubility and bitter taste. It is called "DISPRIN" and is sold at drug stores everywhere.

DISPRIN is available in bottles of 25 tablets or Handy Pocket Pockets of 8.

Attlee Assails Fault-Finders

LONDON, Oct. 9 (INS)—Prime Minister Attlee's view of Conservatives who criticize his government's relations with the United States is that they are "niggling little fault-finders" and even traitors.

Attlee told newsmen upon leaving a political rally that the Conservative Party critics were "trying to make capital out of Winston Churchill's so-called 'close ties' with the United States."

City Contractor Not Guilty On False-Pretenses Charge

A Victoria contractor, Clifford W. Knibbs, won't free early yesterday afternoon when an Assize Court jury found him not guilty on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses.

Knibbs had been charged in connection with repairs to a house at 2322 Shakespeare Street owned by Zilla Hall of Shawnigan Lake.

The contractor had been accused of obtaining $735 from Miss Hall by telling her that the home on Shakespeare Street would be condemned if it was not moved and completely repaired.

In his address to the jury, defense counsel Ronald Grant said Knibbs had signed a contract to do the major work because he had been told by the city building inspector that authorization for the work was needed in order to issue a permit.

Agent for Miss Hall, Mrs. Annie Davidson, told the court that Knibbs had made false statements to her concerning the need for repairs.

In addressing the jury, Mr. Justice J. M. Coady said statements to the agent, even assuming they were false, did not constitute false pretenses under the meaning of the act, unless that information was communicated to the owner herself and influenced her to act.

W. K. Kellogg, Dies

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 9 (AP)—Will Keith Kellogg, 91, who took the lowly corn flake from obscurity to a place of prominence on breakfast tables and amassed a fortune of $50,000,000 while doing it, has died in hospital.

Kellogg gave most of his fortune to the foundation, retaining $2,000,000 for his personal use.

NOW CONQUER CONSTIPATION

When normal regularity is restored and maintained by the revolutionary medical discovery, Melcalose!

Here's a constipation corrective (not a laxative), that gives real assurance of positive relief. No laxative in medical history can offer proof of such action and results!

Actual medical records prove that Melcalose can restore normal regularity in as little as 7 days—even in chronic constipation cases of 20 or 30 years' duration!

Easy-to-take Melcalose tablets give gentle, corrective relief without violent purging, stomach upset or digestive disturbances of any kind... without the inconvenience of messy seeds or granules, slippery oils or bitter salts.

Melcalose forms a mild non-purging gel that passes unchanged through the digestive system... mixes with the contents of the colon, where constipation actually takes place... the result... light, smooth, normal bowel movements.

Once this rhythmic activity is restored and maintained, constipation no longer exists!

MELCALOSE TABLETS ARE EASY TO TAKE!

Ordinary "laxatives" often upset entire digestive tract... Melcalose tablets go to work where constipation actually takes place... have remarkable soothing colon-action.

Melcalose tablets do not lose their effectiveness with use. No increase in dosage will ever be necessary!

Court to Hear Murder Appeal For Doukhobor

The jury's misinterpretation of circumstantial evidence and its possible prejudice against Doukhobors were offered as grounds for appeal yesterday of John M. Davidoff, convicted July 7 and sentenced to hang for the murder of his son Joseph at Brilliant.

Counsel for the appellant, A. G. Cameron, made application to introduce new evidence on Davidoff's behalf and was granted permission by the Appeal Court judges.

Crown counsel T. G. Norris opposed the application on the grounds that fresh evidence would not affect the case.

Davidoff was found guilty and sentenced at Nelson of killing his son with a .303 rifle. The Crown held that Davidoff committed the crime to obtain benefits from an insurance policy, of which he was the beneficiary.

Mr. Cameron is asking for an acquittal or a new trial on the grounds that the jury at Nelson was "perverse" and not justified in arriving at a guilty verdict.

Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker sentenced Davidoff to hang December 11 of this year.

The appeal will continue today.

Driving Charge Brings Fine For Salesman

Vancouver salesman, Harold Armstrong, was fined $200 in city police court yesterday for driving a car while his ability to do so was impaired by alcohol.

His driver's license was also suspended for three months, and for an additional nine months he is permitted to drive for business purposes only.

A. O. King, 2046 Kings Road, M. T. Coleman, 278 Superior, and Paul Chan, 830 Caledonia, were each fined $35 for careless driving.

Old Saint Gets Hunters' Votes

PARIS, Oct. 9 (AP)—Saint Hubert, a French bishop who died in 727 A.D., received 500 votes out of 3,924 cast Sunday in local elections in France's Basses-Pyrenees department. His supporters were the hunters, of whom Hubert is the patron saint. They were protesting a game law which they claim opens the season after most of the birds have flown away. The Interior Ministry ruled Saint Hubert ineligible.

Antigua, capital of the Leeward Islands of the West Indies, was first settled by the English.
